ABSENT-MINDED

Jones was very absent-minded. One day he was invited to go and play tennis at the club. He got ready in a hurry. As he dashed down the hall he snatched up some balls and put them in his bag. When he arrived at the club he thought the bag felt very heavy, so he looked in it. "Confound it!" said Jones. "I've brought the potatoes! Now, if Mary's boiled the tennis balls, I'm done!"

DROWNED ON SUNDAY AFTER-NOON

On Sunday afternoon little John Harrington aged four years, slipped from the bank of the river at Stand-off and was carried under the ice, and so far his body has not been recovered. It appears the boy was playing with a little girl companion on the bank of the river when he accidentally slipped down the bank and fell into the water where the current quickly carried him under the ice. The little girl went home and told her mother what had happened and immediately the Mounted Police and the A. P. Police at Macleod were notified, who at once proceeded to the spot where the fatality had occurred and with a number of civilians tried to locate the body without avail. The deceased boy and his mother were staying at the home of the teacher in charge of the School at the Mennonite colony at Standoff.

Canon and Mrs. Middleton were visitors to Calgary for a few days this week.

Sergt. T. Hidon, of the A. P. P. Clarendon, was a visitor to town for a few days this week.

Dan. Lucy, of the Silver Spray Brewing Company, was a business visitor to Macleod this week.

A. Smith, K.C., barrister, of Calgary, was in town this week attending the sittings of the Supreme Court.

D. Jenkinson, of Lethbridge, is a visitor to Macleod this week, on business connected with the Supreme Court here.

The busiest place in Macleod Monday morning was at the old farmers' store, in which the farmers are gathered for the killing and plucking of their turkeys. Every farmer has from five to twenty-five birds. The man responsible for the killing of those birds, asks to have them hung up, then he uses his knife on the inside of the mouth, while they are bleeding, the men pick off the feathers, and they are passed to another rack where they are finished, and made ready for packing. They are then laid on another rack for cooling, after which they will be graded, packed into crates, especially prepared for this shipment and will be loaded into a car this week for the New York market, for Christmas. It is the intention to have a man accompany this shipment, and to sell the same on arrival. It is expected that a sale will be completed before they arrive at their destination.

EMPRESS THEATRE

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

WANTED: INSURANCE FOR STRONGHEART, DOG STAR EARNING $100,000 A YEAR

Policies Offered So Full of Exceptions That Owners Would Find It Impossible to Collect.

Insurance agents may be in the same class as book agents, but there are at least two people in the world who would welcome the sight of the insurance agent prepared to write a policy which would cover the most valuable piece of property they have ever possessed. They are Miss Jane Murfin, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mr. Laurence Trimble, of Santa Monica, also California.

The property they would like to insure is a dog. Rather a famous dog, too, for he is Strongheart, the police dog, who gained a place in the world in his first motion picture production, "The Silent Call." Since then his value has been greatly increased by "Brawn of the North," a First National attraction, which will be shown at the Empress Theatre next Wednesday only.

Value $5,000,000

Potentially this dog's earning capacity runs close to $1,000,000 a year. Figuring his earning career conservatively he will be able to earn this amount for a t least five years, which gives him a value of at least five million of dollars. With this earning ability practically assured, if he lives, neither Miss Murfin, his mentor and director, are looking for insurance for anywhere near this amount. A policy which would cover only a part of the loss if this dog star should die or be incapacitated during the course of a production would be welcome—say one for $150,000 or even $100,000.

What Would Rate Be.

But there are numerous bars to a policy that would be insurance against such a loss. In the first place there are very few people who really know anything about dogs. Their chances of life and sickness and accidents have never been studied in a way the same risks in regard to human beings have been. For that reason there is no basis for computing a premium rate.

Last week, a meeting of farmers was held at the Orton school house, at which, W. H. Shield, M.L.A., was in attendance, and was the principal speaker. Mr. Shield explained various features of the government's administration, the main one and one that is of most interest to farmers in this district, was irrigation.

Mr. Shield said the south Macleod project would get underway as soon as the time was ripe, and that the government was moving toward that end as quickly as it was possible. The main business that was transacted, was the appointing of a committee for the purpose of making a survey of this district, and the adjacent ones, to ascertain the financial standing of the farmers and a record of the average yield of crops covering the drought period of the past seven years.

Looking for Facts

The purpose of this was to get something concrete to present to the minister of agriculture, which will prove to the government and the farmers' creditors, that this part of the country is in need of assistance similar to those in the southeastern part of the province.

Keen interest was shown by the farmers present, not that they felt that they were going to get away from paying their debts, but the attitude of the farmers is that the creditors should do considerable "wiping-off" on the farmers' notes, especially the accumulated interest which has gone into arrears on account of crop failures.

CURLING CLUB APPOINTS SKIPS

The members of the Curling Club met on Tuesday evening for the purpose of appointing skips and the selection of third men.

The Club this year will have at least fourteen rinks and a good curling season is expected. President Matheson was appointed a skip at this meeting, and hopes to lead his team to victory in the different competitions.

All would-be curlers are asked to join up at once, its a good healthy game, and there are a number of green men this year, so if you have never curled before, here is a good chance to start.

The fee for the season is $10 with the use of the Club rocks, and it is safe to say that once you commence curling, you're a curler for the rest of your life.

Go to J. T. Marks' store and get your name down as a curler for the coming season.

JOSEPH MORGAN INSPECTOR EDMONTON

New appointments to the school inspection staff are announced by the department of education.

A vacancy in the Lethbridge inspectorate was created by the recent withdrawal of A. J. Watson to take up the superintendency of the Lethbridge city schools, and the post has been filled by the appointment of Joseph Morgan, formerly supervisor of the consolidated schools and for the past year inspector at Macleod.

To the Macleod inspectorate the department has appointed Chas. C.

Dog Takes Big Risk

A second and probably more vital reason is that Strongheart himself does not think as much of his life as insurance companies would like him to. He is afraid of nothing that exists. No risk is too great for him to take in the making of a picture and even when he isn't working before the camera he takes risks that would make the average insurance agent shudder. The Trimble-Murfin Productions own a pack of eighteen wolves, as well as a number of "huskie dogs." Either of these breeds of animals are regarded as being more than a match for the ordinary dog, but Strongheart insists on being the leading member of his company in fact as well as in title.

The situation now is: A policy that can be procured at any reasonable premium has so many exceptions in it that neither Miss Murfin or Mr. Trimble can figure out anything that could happen to their star that would make the policy collectible.

So the only insurance Strongheart now carries is Mr. Trimble's remarkable knowledge of what is good for the health of dogs, and Strongheart's own prowess in looking out for himself. The combination seems to be a pretty good brand of insurance when you consider the risks Strongheart has already taken and passed safely.

GREAT CAST IN NEW CRUIZE FILM

"City That Never Sleeps" Coming to the Empress

James Cruze's latest production for Paramount, "The City That Never Sleeps," adapted from Leroy Scott's story, "Mother O'Day," includes a fine line-up of prominent players in the principal roles.

Louise Dresser, whose years on the stage and screen have endeared her to millions of theatre goers, portrays the character of "Mother O'Day," the Bowery cafe proprietress about whom the story revolves.

Kathryn Williams comes back into a Cruze production as a Fifth Avenue society woman who adopts the baby of "Mother O'Day, and whose vindictive attitude eventually robs her of the mysterious revenue which has enabled her to maintain her position for many years.

Ricardo Cortez, one of the most promising screen "finds" of recent years, comes under the direction of Cruze for the first time. He plays the "heavy" role.

Virginia Lee Corbin, remembered

Value of Farm Lands

The subject of the assessable value of farm lands for taxes was discussed quite freely, and the feeling of the meeting was that the valuation was still too high for what it would produce.

The school district here is small and the school-age population is larger than a number of neighboring districts, and the meeting recommended to Mr. Shield that he bring the matter up at the next sitting of parliament, as the trustees have worked hard to get the district enlarged without success for a number of years.

Mr. Shield advised the farmers to get into mixed farming and said that it was his opinion that the small herd of sheep and the dairy cow was the thing that would tide the farmer over the lean years until irrigation was established.

Leads in Grain Growing

A. F. Grady of Macleod, representing the Board of Trade, also spoke, and gave those present considerable encouragement, stating that in past years, the grains in Macleod district had captured a multitude of prizes at the dry farming congress.

B. Josiah Orr, who acted as chairman of the meeting, encouraged the farmers to take more interest in farmers' meetings and said that Mr. Shield had given the farmers a vast amount of service during his period of representation at parliament.

Both Mr. Shield and Mr. Grady were tendered a hearty vote of thanks for their services.

Bremner who was inspector at Grande Prairie for two years previous to the reduction of the inspectorial staff. He has lately been principal of the Drumheller school but is now returning to inspection work.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILDS GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

The members of St. Andrew's Guilds gave a good program of entertainment to a crowded house at the Town Hall on Friday evening last. One of the features of the concert was the dancing of little Miss Donaldson, of Lethbridge. This clever young artist who is a pupil of Miss Jean Gauld, was encored repeatedly for her Scotch and Irish jigs.

The kiddies who took part in the Gipsy scene, and the five small girls who were in the Afternoon Tea scene also played and acted their different parts splendidly. The final number was a comedy sketch entitled "Sister Masons," which was well acted and presented. Mrs. F. Morris took the leading role of Worthy Grand Sky-rockets, and was ably supported by the rest of the company, all of whom were members of St. Andrew's.

Congratulations for the success of the entertainment are due Mrs. H. Hill, Mrs. Tripp and Mrs. F. Morris for the arduous preparatory work they did.

When you say "the people," you invariably mean those who make as little as you make.

You can't tell by watching the boss whether he is deliberating or loafing.

as "the record-br eaking baby of the stage and screen a few years ago, in "The City That Never Sleeps" has her first grown-up role. From adorable babyhood she has emerged into striking blonde young womanhood. She plays the daughter of "Mother O'Day" who is kept in ignorance of her parentage until a tense moment of drama and gun-play brings back childhood recollections.

All the above mentioned are featured.

Appearing in the strong supporting cast are such well-known names as Pierre Gendron, whom you remember as leading man for Madge Kennedy and Marguerite Clark a few years ago, James Farley, Ben Hendricks and mandell Darr.

"The City That Never Sleeps," which will be the feature at the Empress Theatre Mon-Tues, was adapted to the screen by Walter Woods and Anthony Coldey, Karl Brown, who "shot" "The Covered Wagon," did the photography.

HERE'S A REAL TREAT FOR FILM PATRONS

Patrons of the Empress Theatre are in for a real treat next Fri-Sat., when "The Meanest Man in the World" will be the banner attraction. This is a firm adaptation from the famous stage play of George M. Cohan and in which Mr. Cohan personally appeared for over a year in New York City. It is a First National picture.

The footlight presentation was regarded by critics as one of the outstanding features of New York and the screen version of the play is said to be to the screen what the play was to the stage.

Bert Lytell enacts the title role, and this popular player is surrounded with a cast that is truly all-star in every essence of the word. Blanch Sweet appears opposite Lytell, and others of importance include Bryant Washburn, Marjory Aye, Helen Lynch, Victor Fotel, Ward Crane, William Conklin, Frances Raymond and Forrest Robinson.

The story of "the meanest man" deals with the struggles of a young lawyer who is so soft-hearted he finds himself a failure because he cannot say no to anybody.

He gets his real chance, however, when he is assigned the duty of collecting a note from one J. Hudson, who resides in a little town in New York State. On his arrival he finds that J. Hudson is a girl and that the J. stands for Jane. In all towns there are the rich and the poor, and

EGYPTIAN TROOPS STAGE MUTINY

Cairo, Nov. 28.—Two platoons of the Eleventh Sudanese at Khartoum today mutinied and attacked the military hospital, killing one British and two Syrian doctors.

British troops fired on the mutineers who suffered severe casualties. Further Arrests in Cairo

London, Nov. 28.—A number of additional arrests of Egyptian Nationalists were made today, says an agency dispatch from Cairo.

Outbreak is Confirmed

London, Nov. 28.—The Egyptian embassy in London confirms the news from Cairo of an outbreak among Egyptian troops at Khartoum but adds that it considers that the outbreak was not due to any influence outside the battalion involved and is not connected officially with the troubles in Cairo.

The Cairo correspondent of the Morning Post has cabled that it is reported that further arrests have been made. He is unable, however, to obtain confirmation. He adds that many more arrests are to be expected in the near future.

The Daily Mail's Cairo correspondent believes that Zivair Pasha was happily relieved by yesterday's arrests, as the prisoners, according to the correspondent, were the premier's political enemies and if they had been left at liberty might have endangered his life as well as the lives of British officials.

There seems to be some anxiety in Cairo with reference to the attitude of the students in the higher schools who still refuse to resume their studies. The students of Alazabar issued a statement to the newspapers declaring their determination to strike for 10 days in protest against the British measures. They called upon the Moslems of all classes to attend the masques of Alazabar today for a meeting after prayers to decide what course to take.

In view of the occurrences which have followed some similar gatherings in the past, it is assumed here that the British authorities in Egypt will take strong measures to prevent trouble.

One of the points in the British demands upon the Egyptian government following the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, the sirdar, was for the evacuation of the Sudan by all the Egyptian military forces there.

A Cairo dispatch last night said that, when the acting sirdar gave the necessary orders for the evacuation, the Egyptian officers and troops declined to obey and offered resistance, declaring they would not leave unless they received orders from the Egyptian government.

British troops then surrounded the Egyptians and the government at Khartoum, capital of the Sudan, telegraphed Cairo asking that such orders be issued. The message intimated that the Egyptian troops were ready to resist further but pointed out that they had only 20 rounds of ammunition per man, whereas the British Jane Hudson, who owns the merchandise store of the town, like "the meanest man," cannot say no to the poor customers. All that Jane possesses is her stock of goods and a pile of farm land.

Hiram Leeds, the local banker, seems quite interested in buying Jane's land and becomes so insistent that the attorney decides to ascertain his real motive. He finally succeeds and brings the news to Jane that she has all land and not farm land. By soliciting through the town attorney gathers sufficient money together to erect a derrick and drilling is started. Leeds has a mortgage on the property, however, and sends word to Jane he is going to foreclose at noon of the day it is due. Then the dramatic moments of the picture begin with the drillers striving to bring in the well in time. At five minutes to twelve the well gushes and Jane becomes rich. Incidentally, the attorney finds he has lost his heart for Jane Hudson and Jane finds she, too, has fallen in love.

CORTEZ LIKES PLAYING SCREEN VILLAIN ROLES

Here's a handsome young actor who admits he likes to play villainous roles on the screen!

Ricardo Cortez, featured Paramount player, is guilty. He says there is something "distressingly satisfying" in playing the part of a nice slick villain, and he likes 'em.

"Anybody can wear good clothes and make love to a pretty girl," said Cortez in jabs of production of "The City That Never Sleeps," in which he appears for the first time under the direction of James Cruze, the man who made "The Covered Wagon."

"But it seems to me there is a great deal more opportunity for a man who can wear good clothes and look like a leading man, and then turn around and do a wicked deed with finesse and delicacy."

"What the screen needs is more delicate villain. The old-time villain with the drooping moustache and the heavy scowl is gone. Nothing suits me better than to now and then be one of the new school of slick-fingered villains."

He gets his chance in "The City That Never Sleeps." Under Cruze's direction, Cortez practices his villainous wooing proclivities upon Louise Dresser and Virginia Lee Corbin, and indirectly breaks up the home of Kathryn Williams. Pierre Gendron finally snares Cortez who, it is presumed, lives happily ever afterward.

THE FIRST FOUR PLAYERS MENTIONED ABOVE ARE FEATURED IN THE PRINCIPAL ROLES OF "THE CITY THAT NEVER SLEEPS" WHICH WILL BE SHOWN NEXT MON-TUES. AT THE EMPRESS THEATRE. GENDRON HEADS THE STRONG CAST PLAYING IN SUPPORT.

has "unlimited supplies."

After a meeting of the Egyptian minister, the war minister ordered the withdrawal to prevent "useless bloodshed."

Threatens Allenby's Life

London, Nov. 27.—Egyptian nationalists have arranged to make a desperate attempt on the life of Viscount Allenby, the British high commissioner, according to the Cairo correspondent of the Daily Mail, who says that information regarding this plan has been received from many trustworthy sources, and that the danger is officially recognised as very serious.

The guards on the residency have been doubled and increased precautions will be taken to protect Lord Allenby when he is driving through the streets.

An order has been issued that every high British military and civil officer henceforth shall be accompanied in public by an armed escort. Officers must carry revolvers and civilian officials must keep revolvers in their desks.

WHITE-TAILED DEER IN WATER-TON PARK

For the first time for several years, three white-tailed deer were seen at Waterton Park last week and on the Townsite.

Some 9 or 10 years ago there were quite a few bands of these deer in different localities on the Park but of late years they practically disappeared here as has been the case in other parks as well where they have diminished to a large extent.

The presence of these deer was, therefore, of more than ordinary interest and it is to be hoped they will again make this Park their habitat and increase in numbers.

BIG CONCERT AT THE EMPRESS

It's a purely benefit concert, and everyone will agree on the night of the entertainment that not only the concert program will be worth while, but the object for which the concert is being arranged.

The admission will be 75 cents for everyone, and it will mean a two or three hours' enjoyable musical and monologue entertainment.

Regular Meeting Town Council

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held at the Town Hall on Monday evening last when a full attendance was recorded.

Fire Chief Shields made application for a hose tower which is a much needed necessity for the Fire Brigade. This matter was left entirely in the hands of the Fire Committee to act upon.

The report of the Medical Health Officer was received, the chief contents being the measles epidemic outbreak. According to Dr. Kirk the disease is past the worst stage and steps have been taken to prevent its spread. The report clearly states that modified quarantine for this disease is practically futile.

CORRESPONDENCE

Seemly discussion of matters of public interest is invited under the name heading. As an earnest of good faith and to insure publication, all communications to the editor must be signed by the contributor (soon de plume signature for publication if so desired). The editor of The Times is not responsible for opinions expressed or statements made under above heading; neither does he necessarily endorse or condemn such opinions or statements.

Vancouver, B. C.

The Editor,
The Macleod Times:

In a recent issue of your paper, Mr. Armstrong, who I had the pleasure of meeting in Macleod last summer, stresses the value of a Union Church. There are places where such an institution may be a temporary success, but the history of Western Canada teaches us that permanent success as a spiritual power cannot accompany work where distinctive doctrines have to be suppressed because the congregation is a composite of many creeds.

The corporate union of certain Churches in Canada is not accomplished, as a vote of the people has to be taken on the subject before any such merger could be effected. We desire to be friendly with all churches but it is quite certain that the Presbyterian Church will continue in Canada.

R. G. MacBeth.

INHERITANCE LAWS TOO COMPLICATED

This country is indulging in an orgy of will-breaking. In the past ten years the number of wills set

You can't feel so good but what will make you feel better.

Nature's Remedy

aside in the courts has more than doubled.

And the reason for this legal manipulation of wills is the mass of laws, acts and amendments that has grown up about the simple act of inheritance.

A few years ago, an industrious citizen could work hard during his little threescore years and ten and then rest assured that the fruits of his toil would go to those who he considered most deserving.

Today it is different. There are laws to tell him just how much he must leave his wife. There are statutes directing him in the minutest details. He cannot even leave the family canary to his tobacco shop cronies without extracting a protest from some fifth cousin in Patagonia.

There are only two principles to be followed in the law of inheritance:

1. That when a man marries his wife, and fathers children he contracts certain liabilities for their support.

2. That outside of this responsibility a man can leave his money where he chooses.

All other inheritance laws are simply foolish and confusing.

American law has grown so ponderous that few American lawyers can afford to have a law library of their own.

Canadian law is rapidly getting into that condition.

RUSSIAN PERFDY

British rejection of the Anglo-Russian treaty is fully justified by the mischievous meddling of Zinovieff. It would have been a good thing for Russia, Britain and the world, had it been possible to resume trade relations with the former country. Nothing would have knocked the perverted political notions out of Russian heads so quickly as to have again rubbed shoulders with the world in a commercial way.

But so long as Russia continues her campaign of bolshevik propaganda, such recognition and intercourse are impossible. Nobody can make friends with a rattle-snake so long as he insists on using his poison fangs.

There can be little doubt today that the Zinovieff letter was genuine, and a deliberate attempt to pollute British labor.

Zinovieff has long been an enemy of Britain and everything British. Pudgy, unkempt and dirty, he typifies all that is worst in the Soviet regime. He has been the originator of most of the brutality, most of the wholesale murder and most of the international plots that have had birth in Moscow. He is an enemy of civilization.

So long as he and his type remain in control, the less the world has to do with Russia, the better for the world.

THE SACRED TRUST OF SELF-GOVERNMENT

If, as the assassination of Sir Lee Stack seems to indicate, Egypt has been found unable to govern herself without such political crimes of violence, Great Britain, as the world's greatest guardian of modern civilization, will not only be justified in withdrawing Egyptian rights of self-government, but will incur a solemn obligation to do so.

With individuals, the old fallacy that "the world owes every man a living" has long been exploded. The highest type of man thinks, not of what the world owes him, but of what he owes the world.

And so with nations.

Every nation owes humanity the duty of producing the maximum quantity and quality of foods, men and brains. When any nation, through the faults of its governmental system or through the weakness of the men who are in control, fails to produce that maximum and becomes a drag on the world's progress, that nation automatically forfeits its right of self-government.

And, under those circumstances, for powerful progressive nations to take over the control of nations that fall in their duty, is not conquest nor oppression, but simply the right and duty of civilization to protect itself from the elements of regression and stagnation in the world.

NEW SOCIAL STANDARDS

Physicians of the District of Washington have taken the public into their confidence so far as to publish a complete scale of fees for everything from a liquor prescription to the removal of a leg.

The starting point in the new scale is that prices range from minimum to maximum, according to the wealth of the patient.

Thus, minimum fees go from $2 for a telephone call to $300 for a major operation, while maximum fees run from $10 to $5000 for similar services.

The publication of this list should establish a new standard for social purposes.

It will be no longer necessary for the ambitious wife of Senator X. to give a series of expensive pink teas and wet dinners to show exactly who she was back in Oshkosh. It will no longer be necessary to produce evidence showing that an ancestor came over in the Mayflower.

All she will have to do is to pack around her doctor's bills, proving that she was soaked $5000 for having her appendix taken out and she will automatically be placed at the head of the parade going in to dinner.

PLAYED TO PACKED HOUSE

The members of St. Andrew's Guild presented an entertainment at the Town Hall on Friday evening last that was much appreciated by the large audience. One of the features of the program was the splendid dancing by little Miss Donaldson of Lethbridge, whose numbers were repeatedly encored. Another excellent item was the performance of the children in their songs and sketches, especially to the five very small girls in their character song "The Tea-party." The last number of the program was the presentation of a sketch entitled "Sister Masons," this play was well presented and each and every turn was well characterized. Mrs. F. Morris, was fine in the leading role of Grand Worshipful Skyrocket, and was ably supported by every member of the caste. Mrs. M. Hill and Mrs. Tripp are also to be congratulated on the work they did to make the evening such a success. Mr. J. D. Matheson ably filled the position as Chairman for the evening.

At least Cain didn't call it patriotism.

Oyster Cocktail

Allow 6 raw oysters to each person.
For sauce add ½ tablespoon of tomato catsup or chili sauce to ¼ tablespoon of lemon juice, 2 drops tobacco sauce, ¼ teaspoon celery salt and 3 drops Worcestershire sauce, and if desired add half a teaspoonful of olive oil. Multiply by as many as you have guests—that is, for instance, 2 tablespoons of catsup if there are to be 4 people, and so on. For variety if desired one may add a tablespoon of horseradish or of minced celery, or minced pimientos, or of green peppers, or of chow-chow, or 2 tablespoons of shredded grapefruit.

Petite Marmite

To a quart of brown soup stock or consomme heated in little individual earthen dishes (called marmite) or tiny earthen pots like the individual baked bean pots, add a cupful of cooked sliced carrots, thinly sliced turnips or diced string beans, on top of each pot or dish place a square of hot buttered toast, set in the oven for a minute or two and serve very hot.

Chestnut Stuffing

Take a pound of chestnuts and cut each one, pour a tablespoon of oil over them and set them in a hot oven 5 minutes. The shell and inner skin will then come off easily together.
Cook the shelled nuts in salted boiling water till tender, drain, and mash them. Add 2 cups of mashed white or sweet potato or beardedums, a teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup butter or other shortening melted, the grated rind and juice of a lemon and a teaspoon of minced parsley. If a more moist dressing is desired, adda little soup stock or milk, varying the amount according to whether bread crumbs or mashed potato is used, more being needed with the crumbs.

Glaze Sweet Potatoes

Boil or bake 4 large sweet potatoes, peel and cut in thick slices. Lay in an oiled baking dish, dot with bits of 1-3 cup good margarine or butter, sprinkle with 1-3 cup brown sugar mixed with ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F—about ½ hour, covering the dish the first 20 min.

Roquefort Dressing

Mash 3 tablespoons of Roquefort cheese and beat into a small quantity of French dressing. It is made with 3 times as much oil as vinegar (or lemon juice) salt and pepper to taste.
A salad for 6 people will take 6 tablespoons of oil, 2 of vinegar or lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Put all the ingredients in a bowl and beat together with a fork or egg beater until smoothly blended.
If it is allowed to stand the oil will apparently separate, but it may be beaten over and used again until the last drop is gone, so it is perfectly all right to make it in quantity to keep on hand in a bottle for use when you want it. In this case, the easiest way is to put a cup and a half of oil into a Mason jar, add half a cup of vinegar, 3 teaspoons of salt and a half a teaspoon of pepper, and whenever you need some, shake it up.Marshmallow Pumpkin Pie

Joseph Hicks, barrister, was called to Gramon on the 17th ult., to defend a client charged with improper use of a brand under the Alberta Brand Act. A real merry battle was staged when the evidence was being taken as it was mostly expert evidence and the age of the brand a matter of vital question. The defence rested on the fact that the animal was purchased about six years ago and delivered to the accused by the vendor in a general trade of property. Three witnesses told the story and gave the date as February, five years and nine months ago. Mr. Hicks argued that since the Brand Act made no provision as to the limitation of the time within which the prosecution should commence Section 1142 of the Criminal Code applied and that the magistrate had no jurisdiction to try the case as the time limit under that section was six months from the time of the cause of the complaint. The magistrate, however, held that the time was not outlaid and that every day until the brand was vented was a new cause of complaint. The accused was convicted and fined. Mr. Hicks has filed and served a notice of appeal.
